

Caster, Phalula make 2016 women's awards list

Sowetan Reporter

BANYANA Banyana captain Jaime van Wyk is among the Olympic Games-bound athletes who have been nominated for the 2016 Gsport Awards.

Van Wyk, Caster Semanya, Lebo Phalula and Caroline Wostmann are the 20 athletes who were put forward for the Athlete of the Year.

It is for the first time in the event's 10-year history that the organisers have released the entire list of nominations before it is short-listed to three finalists per category by the judging panel.

"Over the next two weeks, gsport will fact-check the nominations to address errors and omissions before the four-woman gsport judging panel deliberate the top-three finalists across all categories," the organisers said after the nominations closed on Friday.

Public voting starts on August 1. Nominees (in order of date of receipt of nomination):

Lions will rue loss to lowly Jaguares

the Lions will play the Crusaders at Ellis Park and the Stormers will host the Chiefs at Newlands.

On Friday, the Brumbies are up against the Highlanders.

Lions coach Johan Ackermann might also rue his decision to leave 20 of his first-choice players behind for the assignment in Buenos Aires. Predictably, they came up short losing 34-22.

Had the Lions gained a point they would have finished top seeds, meaning a possible home final if they progressed that far.

It would also have meant a last eight against the Sharks and not the dangerous Crusaders, who beat the Lions 43-37 at Ellis Park earlier in the year.

The Stormers are on new ground having not played against a side from NZ this season due to the tournament structure that saw them come up against Australian sides in cross-conference matches.

Super Rugby quarterfinal draw

Friday, July 22:
Brumbies v Highlanders
Saturday, July 23:
Hurricanes v Sharks
Lions v Crusaders
Stormers v Chiefs

SITHOLE NETS SWISS TITLE

Sowetan Reporter

THE country's top wheelchair tennis quad ace, Lucas Sithole added another title to his accolades when he clinched his second doubles title in Geneva, Switzerland on Friday.

The second-time Paralympic Games qualifier put the icing on the cake with another magnificent Swiss Open campaign, teaming up with Heath Davidson from Australia for a second doubles crown. The duo defeated American pair Bryan Barten and former world number one David Wagner 1-6 6-4 (10-8).

The Swiss Open is an International Tennis Federation (ITF) level 1 event and forms part of the UNIQLO Wheelchair Tennis Tour.

In the singles event, the 29-year-old was as focused and determined, posting a confident win over Timmermans Hall from the Netherlands 2-6 6-0 6-1 in the opening round, before outplaying Barten 4-6 6-3 6-3 in the second round.

But Sithole could not make it a double after coming short in the quads final against his biggest rival, Wagner.

The American world number two denied the Kwazulu-Natal-born star the singles title in Geneva in 2014 and repeated the feat in this year's event.
